

Charles G Sang

Charles G Sang in 1965

Charles Sang was based in the London and Basingstoke offices so his story will, no doubt, be told in the wider history of Scott Wilson Kirkpatrick & Partners.

Charles was, however, an occasional visitor to the Glasgow Office and attended at least one of the Glasgow Christmas Dinner Dances. He was also named as a Director of Scott Wilson Kirkpatrick & Co (Scotland) Ltd 1973-1976 but this was a nominal appointment and he had no involvement in the management of the Firm in Scotland.

Charles was known to most of the staff as 'Wine Women and' Sang! He did not seem to mind this mild joke and, in at least one edition of the House Magazine 'Pontifact' used the term himself.

He was an Aberdeen man who spent his early years with Scottish Consultants before joining Scott Wilson Kirkpatrick & Partners in London. He never married and, in the fullness of time, retired to his native Aberdeen.
