

Illustrations and Images

The illustrations and images included in Volumes 1 to 4 are largely from my own archive while those included in Volumes 5 to 12 have, in the main, been abstracted from the various Scott Wilson newsletters.

The situation in the Appendices is more complex as the documents and images included there come from a much wider range of sources including my own personal archive and those of former partners, directors and colleagues who responded to my calls for contributions. In addition, images and illustrations have been included from news clippings, brochures, publicity material and other similar sources.

The Volumes have very detailed contents sections at the beginning and are colour coded to make searches for people and projects/disciplines relatively simple. There are, as yet, no hyperlinks but the content can be 'searched' from the web page.

Appendices 1, 2 and 3 have their own detailed contents sections with hyperlinks and they too can be 'searched' from the web page.

In addition, the whole website can be scanned in the search for interesting images, illustrations, articles and papers.

Jim McCafferty, October 2015.