THE HISTORY OF
SCOTT WILSON KIRKPATRICK

From individual engineering consultancy in 1924 to major international firm in 2010

Compiled by
GEOFF FRENCH CBE

Introduction

I had hoped that this history of Scott Wilson Kirkpatrick would be ready soon after the acquisition by URS. However, it has taken much longer than I had expected to pull together something coherent and reasonably comprehensive from the various sources of information available. This delay is despite significant assistance I have received. Sue Blanchflower deserves particular praise for her typically cheerful and efficient processing of many drafts of the text. The assistance of Morris Hopkins was also invaluable for proof-reading, compiling the index and adding some memories from his own 33 years with the firm. Thanks also to Matt Payne for his work in formatting this history.

Inevitably, for a history spanning over 90 years, there is change from imperial to metric units in the text around 1970. I am sure readers can do their own conversions if necessary. Generally, the size of schemes rather than their construction costs are mentioned as inflation over the years means that historic costs are not a useful guide to the size of a project.

In the early years of the firm abbreviations of its name were rarely used; around 1970 the use of SWK became more frequent and the text reflects that. At the start of the new millennium the firm's name was simplified to Scott Wilson and this was used rather than SWK.

There may be errors and shortcomings in this publication; if there are I apologise and accept full responsibility for them. However, I hope that this history will bring back many happy memories of the firm and all it achieved.
